The Usborne Book of Christmas Carols is a book to treasure. It has many full page color illustrations, and at least one small illustration on each page, if not a large one. It contains the words and music to 30 classic Christmas Carols, including: 1. Away in a Manger2. The Holly and the Ivy3. O Little Town of Bethlehem4. Ding Dong! Merrily on HighThe First NoelUnto Us a Child is BornIt came upon Midnight clearGood Christian men, Rejoice!Angels we have heard on highSilent NightSee amid the Winter's snowThe BirdsGabriel's MessageHark! The music is relatively simple, but not a beginner level, however, it sounds quite nice. All in all, this is an excellent book.

When you start looking for a good collection of Christmas Carols that can easily be used by children and adults, this is the right copy. In this colorful collection, illustrated by Stephen Cartwright of Usborne Publishing, you will find angels serenading every one of the 30 songs which contain the music and the lyrics for several verses. There is also one page showing the guitar chord diagrams, so that if you are the guitarist, you will be able to provide the accompaniments. Economically, this book is also a value, considering the children or adults will want their own copies of this book. By far, it's a good value. So, it's a long way to Christmas; well, it is good to be prepared.

This is a very nice collection of carols set in colorful pages with attractive artwork. The piano arrangements are fairly simple without sounding clunky. Guitar chords are also provided, but sometimes are a bit "busy" with color chords. Most tunes could be also played by second year students of flute, recorder, or violin. The book is large enough to be easily read while light enough to rest on a portable music stand.

Wonderful caroling book. It is missing some songs I wish were there (Joy to the World), but the ones that are there are great.
