Dino Finder Dot-to-Dot: Connect The Dots & Color

Synopsis

You already know the mighty T-Rex and the Apatosaurus, but have you heard of the Baryonyx, the Jobaria, and the Majungatholus? Get out your pencils and prepare to meet some of the more unusual sauruses ever! For example, the gigantic Acrocanthosaurus had extra-tall spines on its back while the flying Iberomesornis was only the size of a sparrow. All the dinosaurs shown here were discovered after 1990-or they are ones for which paleontologists have recently found good new skeletons. By connecting the dots and forming the pictures, you can learn about these amazing animals. (Color them in when you're done.) And, don't forget to look on the labeled map to find out where they lived, and the timeline to see when!

Customer Reviews

as stated in my title, the quality of the paper is excellent - not the typical grey, almost-newspaper thin. the book has many, many dinosaurs with their names, but the dot-to-dot activity itself is boring. sure, the numbers go high, but the adjacent numbers are all next to each other, most within 1 cm, so connecting the dots pretty much doesn't require any counting when the dots practically outline the dinosaurs. therefore, the book ends up feeling more like a tracing exercise, rather than learning to count. but if your kid is more interested in learning all the different dinosaurs and color their finished work, this is a good book to get.
